

LIMINAL WINDOW

The Vessel That Steered The Sea

Jaiden Hordosillo

Liminal Window: The Vessel That Steered The Sea
First Edition, Digital

Liminal Window is an auteur publication created by Jaiden Hordosillo, who serves as writer, editor, illustrator, designer, composer, programmer, and publisher.

Published by Liminal Window Co
May 6, 2026

ISSN: 3071-1932

Language: English
Genre: POE023000 – Poetry / General

All essays, fiction, commentary, puzzles, illustrations, music, layout design, game systems, and website code in this issue were created by the author unless otherwise credited.

© 2026 Liminal Window Co

This work may be shared freely in its original form. Excerpts may be quoted for critical or scholarly purposes with proper attribution.

Published in the United States of America.

The Vessel That Steered The Sea

When you first meet...

Honey dawns turn to auburn dusks glimmering across the sapphire glass.

You can't stop the sea of texting, learning, talking, listening.

Then.

All tides turn from low to loving.

Then.

You set sail,
on a ship named Sympathy.
And every day is a new journey.

Then.

Conversations convert from confessing to concealing.

Confiding, no longer, the instinct is hiding.

With so much peace, you swore
the vessel steered the sea.

So no one sees,
when the tide recedes and when the skies shift to ebony.

Then.

The waves weave into chop that can stop even the strongest ship.

Reactions turn to replies.
Seduction to silence.

Then.

Within the storm siege,
the sea swallows, and the ship named Sympathy
sinks.

Suddenly you're both lost to sea.

Left to float, waiting for a new boat, while you search for the signs of the storm you didn't see, arrogantly,

thinking,
"where did it come from?"

Never realizing,
every silence, willed the storm to be.

liminalwindow.blog/archive

Visit the archive to read other poems.

Colophon

Title: Liminal Window: The Vessel That Steered The Sea

Author: Jaiden Hordosillo

ORCID: 0009-0005-4147-4231

Publisher: Liminal Window Co

EIN: 39-3928958

Publication Date: 5/6/2026

ISSN: 3071-1932

Edition: First Edition, Digital

Line Count: 72

Language: English

Genre / BISAC: POE023000 – Poetry / General

Dewey Decimal: 811

Edited by: Jaiden Hordosillo

Illustrated by: Jaiden Hordosillo

Layout Design by: Jaiden Hordosillo

Primary DOI: pending

IA: pending

GIT: pending

Digital Proof of Existence:

pending

This document was cryptographically sealed and anchored to the Bitcoin blockchain via OpenTimestamps.

Audiobook Recording:

"The Vessel That Steered The Sea"

Written by Jaiden Hordosillo

Published as Liminal Window

Published by Liminal Window Co

USPC: pending

ISRC: pending

BMI: pending

ISWC: pending

© 2026 Liminal Window Co All rights reserved.

Digital Edition Archived In:

Internet Archive

Zenodo (CERN Data Repository)

Figshare

Institutional Deposits:

Library of Congress (United States)

Duke University Libraries, Durham, NC

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Libraries, Chapel Hill, NC

North Carolina State University Libraries, Raleigh, NC

Durham County Library System, Durham, NC

International Legal Deposits:

The British Library (United Kingdom)

National Library of Scotland

Library and Archives Canada

National Library of Australia

This publication exists as a digitally archived artifact across multiple independent preservation systems, with ongoing efforts toward institutional and legal deposit in national and international archives. Each system serves a distinct role in ensuring long-term accessibility, citation integrity, and redundancy of record. All versions and deposits are considered part of the official publication history of Liminal Window.

© 2026 Liminal Window Co All rights reserved.

This work may be shared freely in its original form. Excerpts may be quoted for critical or scholarly purposes with proper attribution.

Published in the United States of America.

LIMINAL WINDOW

Liminal Window is written by poet Jaiden Hordosillo.

LiminalWindow.blog

ISSN: 3071-1932